

SONOMA, MAY 26, 1894.

A. H. GRANICE, EDITOR.

A JUST DECISION.

The case of Sonoma county vs. the city of Santa Rosa has been reversed in the Supreme Court. The county sued the city for reimbursement on account of feeding city prisoners. The city, however, won in Judge Dougherty's Court and the county appealed.

The above article appeared in the Santa Rosa Republican of the 17th inst. Few people will understand the meaning of it, or know what that suit was about unless it be explained to them.

Under the flimsy pretext that the Charter of the City of Santa Rosa, amongst other things, provides that the City Recorder shall have like jurisdiction as Justice of the Peace in all criminal cases arising within said city, and special jurisdiction of all violations of city ordinances to fine and imprison the guilty party either in the County Jail or City Prison, the Recorder of the City of Santa Rosa has been in the habit, in order to please the people of that town and save them expenses, to send prisoners for violating a city ordinance to the County Jail instead of to the City Prison, just because the city charter does not say, "such imprisonment shall be in the City Prison or County Jail respectively."

For many years the county had to pay for the keeping of such prisoners, which must amount to quite a little sum, until about two years ago, when the Board of Supervisors demanded from the city of Santa Rosa pay for the prisoners. This being refused, suit was brought in Judge Dougherty's Court to recover the amount claimed. The Judge decided against the county, but up on an appeal the Supreme Court took a different view of the matter and reversed that decision. This is not more than just. Petaluma, Healdsburg, Cloverdale and Sonoma must pay expenses when they want their prisoners to be confined in the County Jail. Why not Santa Rosa?

WASHINGTON LETTER.

Charges of Bribery—Coxey's Army—Other Matters of Interest.

(From Our Regular Correspondent.)

The tariff bill has been the basis for two big sensations this week. The first, charging that the sugar trust got the protection given it in the proposed amendment to the sugar schedule of the tariff bill in return for a contribution of $500,000 to the Democratic campaign fund of 1892, and the second, that Maj. J. A. Buttz, now of North Dakota, but once a carpet-bag member of Congress from South Carolina, had attempted to bribe Senators Huntington of Virginia and Kyle of South Dakota to vote against the tariff bill, offering them $25,000 each. Buttz denies the charge. Senator Lodge has offered a resolution providing for an investigation of both charges, but inasmuch as the Senate voted down Mr. Peffer's resolutions providing for an investigation of the charges made against Senators of speculating in the stock of the sugar trust while the tariff bill was in the hands of the Senate Finance Committee its action on this resolution is doubtful. Few people believe that there was any money behind the alleged attempt to bribe the two Senators, if it was made by Buttz, because Buttz, who has been a lobbyist ever since he was in Congress, is not the sort of man who would be selected to disburse big money by would-be bribers of Senators.

Coxey's army of the Commonwealth is apparently settled in its new camp at Bladensburg, Maryland just beyond the line of the District of Columbia, for an indefinite stay. The contributions received this week, including money and a carload of flour, make it certain that the army will have plenty to eat for the next twenty days, even if nothing else were received. A bake oven has been built and the flour will be baked in camp. No one was surprised when a new trial was refused Coxey, Browne and Jones; they did not expect it themselves. Coxey has decided that he will accept the nomination for Congress tendered to him, if he is allowed to run on a Coxey platform. Representative Boon, of Minnesota thinks the machinery of the United States Courts in that State has been working one-sided, and he has offered a resolution in the House authorizing the Judiciary Committee to investigate. In a preamble he gives as reasons for the investigation: That Judge Nelson adjourned Court at Fergus Falls before completing public business and without calling juries as provided by law; also, that he, contrary to law, compelled a number of laboring men charged with offenses against the United States to go 200 miles to St. Paul to be tried, when they lived within 50 miles of Fergus Falls, at which place they should have been tried.

It seems that every week must furnish a personal difficulty on the floor of either the Senate or the House, and the present was no exception. One would not suppose that the Agricultural appropriation bill contained anything upon which to base an exciting episode, but that is just where one is mistaken. While that bill was being considered Representative Hopkins of Illinois charged Representative Hatch of Mo., who is in charge of the bill, with attempting to juggle an increase of salary for an employee of the Agricultural Department into the bill without the knowledge of other members of the House. Mr. Hatch jumped up quivering with excitement, and, shaking his fists towards Mr. Hopkins, shouted: "If the gentleman from Illinois means that word in its ordinary English signification, I want to tell him that if he should use it to me outside of this chamber I would ram it down his throat." As soon as Mr. Hopkins could make himself heard above the shouting and jeering he replied: "I do not know whether I will need a body guard to escort me from the Capitol or not, but I want to say to the gentleman from Missouri that he can take my words in any sense he pleases. I shall neither withdraw or modify them, and he cannot frighten any one with his blustering manners here." There was a time when such language would have been followed by trouble outside of the House, but it has long since passed away.

The Populist Congressional Committee is just as busy sending out documents, etc., as the committees of the old parties are, and its members are figuring on electing enough members of the next House to hold the balance of power between the old parties and to dictate the officers of the House.

There is again lots of talk about a cloture rule in the Senate, to force the tariff bill to a vote, but there is no probability of its adoption, for the very good reason that it would take as long or longer to reach a vote for the adoption of a cloture rule as it would to reach a vote on the tariff bill itself, even if a known majority of the Senate favored cloture, which is by no means certain. On the contrary, there is every reason to believe that a majority is opposed to cloture. WASHINGTON, May 18th, 1894.

While Mr. T. J. Richey of Altona, Mo., was traveling in Kansas he was taken violently ill with cholera morbus. He called at a drug store to get some medicine and the druggist recommended Chamberlain's Colic Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy so highly he concluded to try it. The result was immediate relief, and a few doses cured him completely. It is made for bowel complaint and nothing else. It never fails. For sale by all dealers.

THE HIGHEST AWARD.

Dr. Price's Baking Powder Receives It.

For leavening power, keeping qualities, purity and general excellence the World's Fair Jury decided that Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder had no equal. On each of its claims it was awarded a first prize of a diploma. All the baking powders entered for prizes were subjected to a most exhaustive examination, and the jury was the best equipped to make the decision of any ever got together. Their verdict was supported by the testimony of Dr. H. W. Wiley, chief chemist of the United States Department of Agriculture at Washington. Dr. Wiley is an expert on food products and the highest authority on such matters in America. This verdict settles a long debated question as to which among the many baking powders is the best.

Till Perfectly Cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla

BURTON F. KING, Harveyville, Kansas.

"C. L. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.: 'Our little baby boy is now almost two years old. When he was about six weeks old there appeared a breaking out on his head and breast. We tried various salves and soaps, but it would come off, taking the hair with it. About three months ago we resolved to try Hood's Sarsaparilla and Hood's Olive Ointment. Today we are happy to say that Burton is now entirely well. The sores have all disappeared and his hair is growing nicely. He has only taken one bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla and used one box of Hood's Olive Ointment. We can now recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla to others, and truthfully say it has worked wonders in our little boy's case. I have also been taking Hood's Sarsaparilla for indigestion and liver trouble and am improving right along.'" DAVID A. KING, Harveyville, Kansas.

Hazel Creek, April 14, '94.

"I am more than pleased with it—delighted. The place seems to me to embody all available points for a camp—dry, firm soil, good water (the very best), fine chances for drainage, and scenery unsurpassable. The view of Mt. Shasta is one of the very best to be had from any point; it is visible from every part of the ground. The view of the Crag also is fine. The general environment is of the best. It is an oval-shaped amphitheater, three miles long by one-fourth to 3/4 of a mile wide, with receding walls two to three thousand feet in height, with lines and shades of beauty at every reach. I doubt if a better place can be found in all Northern California."

Another artesian well is being sunk on the reclaimed ranch of Senator Jones. There are already two flowing wells on the place.

L. V. Pieratt of Glen Ellen grafted 4,000 grape vines for Capt. Johnson of Buena Vista this season and only four out of the 4,000 died.

Mrs. R. J. Snyder has obtained judgment in the Superior Court of this county against F. L. Clark, administrator of the estate of the late O. W. Craig. The suit was brought to recover the sum of $1,005 and was the outcome of the Sears-Snyder law suit of several years ago. The case will not be appealed.

Hay-making on the Senator Jones ranch is in full blast this week. About forty-five men are now on the pay roll. As soon as the hay is stacked and baled plowing will commence and between 2,000 and 4,000 acres will be seeded to wheat and barley. The yield of hay and barley this season has more than come up to the most sanguine expectations of the manager of the farm.

L. Modini of the Garibaldi House now owns his own water works. A short time ago he sunk an artesian well in the rear of his premises at a cost of $200. He then engaged the services of J. G. Marcy to erect a windmill and tank at a further cost of $350. About $50 additional was also expended in pipes, etc. He now has an excellent supply of water with a fine force behind it.

There is nothing I have ever used for muscular rheumatism that gives me as much relief as Chamberlain's Pain Balm does. I have been using it for about two years—four bottles in all—as occasion required, and always keep a bottle of it in my home. I believe I know a good thing when I get hold of it, and Pain Balm is the best liniment I have ever met with. W. B. Denny, dairyman, New Lexington, Ohio. 50 cent bottles for sale by all dealers.

Florence, the five-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. Quartaroli, who fell into the open ditch on the east side of First-street West near the railway depot one day last week and broke an arm, is now improving. This ditch is a constant menace to life and limb. It is where a sidewalk ought to be, on one of the most traveled and prominent thoroughfares of the town. There is another dangerous place right in the heart of the city. We refer to the south side of Napa street between the residence of J. B. Small and the new bridge which crosses the creek on Second-street East. At the point mentioned is a deep creek into which more than one pedestrian has fallen on a dark night. The creek should be fenced in and a sidewalk constructed to prevent an accident, a suit for damages and to relieve that part of town of an old eye-sore. The City Trustees ought to look into this matter.

SONOMA VALLEY.

Brother Thompson's Explanation of an Oversight.

The Santa Rosa Democrat in its issue of last Sunday makes an explanation, which we publish below, why Sonoma Township was not mentioned in its splendid special edition of the 7th inst. We forgive you this time, Bob, but don't you ever do it again, or we will never throw another bouquet at you.

Brother Thompson says:

"Our friend and contemporary of the INDEX-TRIBUNE gives us a dig in the ribs for an alleged failure to mention Sonoma Valley in our extra edition. We plead not guilty, because we did say in that paper that Sonoma Valley was the finest wine and fruit district in the State. Moreover, Brother Granice, our wine was done in much haste. You well know how and when it began. In twelve days from the day the proposition was made we had in the hands of folders and mailers our 30,000 edition. Could it be expected we would cover in the time and space at our command all of the imperial county of Sonoma in detail, point by point, without a skip. Fie, fie, Brother Granice, you are hypercritical, which is unusual with you. You know just as well as you know your name, or the streets of your city, or the beautiful hills which overlook it, or the clear fountain of the Lachryma Montis, that there is no one who has written more for old Sonoma, town, valley and county, than has the subject of your editorial rapier thrust. It is a beautiful valley, a historic valley, and when the writer forgets or fails to do it honor his right hand will have lost its cunning. The valley has, moreover, an able defender from even the semblance of a neglect in the editor of its local paper, the INDEX-TRIBUNE, whose enthusiasm for his home is apt to get away with him, and he cries out 'wolf, wolf,' when there is nothing in the bush to scare him.

Sonoma needs no special To spread abroad its fame; She is honored as a mother is By those who share her name.

A name wide spread o'er land and sea, 'Tis whispered by her pines, Her Geyers breathe it to the hills, It sparkles in her wines.

Republican Primaries.

The Republicans will hold their primaries next Tuesday to elect delegates to a County Convention which will be held in Santa Rosa on June 4th. The delegates to be elected to the County Convention will in turn select delegates to the State and District Conventions which meet in Sacramento on June 19th. Sonoma Township will be represented in the County Convention by ten delegates as follows: Sonoma, 3; Glen Ellen, 3; San Luis, 2; Agua Caliente, 2.

Populist Meeting.

The Populist meeting at the City Pavilion, last Monday night, was slimly attended. Nine speakers were present from Petaluma, while the audience numbered about thirty persons. The nine speakers, after addressing the meeting each in his turn, made an effort to organize a political club, but it was not a success as only two of those present signed the membership roll. Evidently the voters of Sonoma take little stock in side show parties.

Vineyards and the Late Frost.

The damage to Sonoma Valley vineyards by the frost of last week is not so great as was at first supposed. While a number of the largest and finest vineyards in the valley were wiped out others were not damaged in the least. It is estimated, however, that the nipping the vines received will reduce the wine grape crop nearly one-half in this section.

Successful Horse Sale.

The sale of horses belonging to the estate of the late Mrs. Robert C. Johnson, which took place one day last week on the Buena Vista ranch one mile east of town, was a success. Ten or twelve head were disposed of at from $75 to $150, the average being $100 per head. One old plug worth about $25 was knocked down for $100.

Badly Mixed Up.

A Petaluma printer, says the Sebastopol Times, in making up the forms one day, got a marriage and grocer's notice mixed up so it read as follows: John Smith and Ida Quay were united in the holy bonds of sauerkraut, which will be sold by the quart or barrel. Mr. Smith is an esteemed codfish at ten cents, while the bride has nine pig's feet to display.

Weyl's meat market is supplied with everything kept in a first-class butcher shop.

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder Contains no Ammonia or Alum.

A Card from Judge Breitenbach.

ED. INDEX-TRIBUNE:

Mr. A. B. Lemmon of the Santa Rosa Republican is not satisfied with my explanation as given through the INDEX-TRIBUNE of last week. He gets wroth and abusive and calls me the "Sonoma slate-maker, the fellow who so flippantly uses the name of R. A. Poppe, while withholding his own." Fie! fie! Mr. Lemmon, have a little more dignity as an editor.

Yours Truly,
F. BREITENBACH.

Thunder Storm.

As we go to press (2 p. m. Friday) heavy showers of rain are falling accompanied by loud peals of thunder. The rain set in at 10:30 a. m., since which time the precipitation has been heavy and steady. Should the rain continue it is feared that much damage will be done to hay in the fields and the cherry crop. Late hay and grain and corn will be greatly benefited by the showers.

GLEN ELLEN.

J. H. Martens and family moved into their new dwelling today.

E. J. Heard has leased the W. I. Williams farm near Kenwood.

The Trustee election next Friday promises to be a lively affair.

Chas. J. Poppe and family spent several days at the Midwinter Fair last week.

R. A. Poppe and Mrs. J. B. Small of Sonoma were among Tuesday's visitors in Glen Ellen.

Dick Hereford and family will shortly leave for Kenwood, where Mr. H. will open a barber shop.

The Republicans are making preparations for the primary election to be held here next Tuesday.

The Dunbar and Summit Joint school districts held an enjoyable picnic in Nun's Canyon last Saturday.

Dr. C. C. O'Donnell has about completed the erection of another dwelling on his farm and will offer the same for rent.

REMINGTON.

Glen Ellen, May 17th, 1894.

Written for the INDEX-TRIBUNE.

WHY HE LOOKED SO.

He had a bandage 'round his head,
And melancholy air;
He looked like one who'd seen the sights,
And sat up rather late.
His mournful eyes were black and blue,
One arm was in a sling;
He looked so pitiful, the sight
Your tears would almost bring.
He looked like one whose tender heart
Cruel fate had lacerated;
Indeed like one whose dearest hopes
Had just been dissipated.
While feebly wandering down the street
Looking most dejected;
He met a jolly friend of his,
One whom he least expected,
Who greeted him with laughter,
And, "Old chap, why so forlorn?
You look as if you'd had a time,
And how your coat is torn!
What've you been doing with yourself,
Have you had a fall?
You look as if you'd just enjoyed
A fine game of base-ball."
To which in sad and trembling tones
The weary one replied:
"Oh! why has fate so cruel been
And my wild hopes denied?
I've just come from the Editor,
And—well! if you must know it;
I look like this because I tried
To be a 'Sweet Spring' poet."

The use of the ring and cake at weddings is almost as ancient as the ceremony itself. In an old book, "Swinburn's Treatise of Spousals," is the following: "The form of the ring being circular—that is, round and without end—importeth thus much, that their nuptial love and hearty affection should roundly flow from one to the other as in a circle, and that continually and forever." From the earliest times the third finger of the left hand was the one chosen to wear the golden band, because of a supposed artery connecting that finger with the heart.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Young and their daughter Miss Maud returned last Wednesday evening from a several months' camping tour to different points of interest throughout the State. The trip was taken for the benefit of Mr. Young's health, when he left here, was very poor. We are glad to state, however, that now, though not fully restored to perfect health, he is rapidly improving. Mr. and Mrs. Young report having had a most pleasant trip, traveling over 800 miles on their journey and encountering only one rain storm on their way. They returned home by way of Lake county.

Every woman should have at her bedside a pair of crocheted or knitted slippers, which she may slip on as soon as she arises. A warm bath-robe should be conveniently near, so that even if burglars come or the children develop croup in the middle of the night she may be warm and comfortable even if simply clad. For more colds result from hasty barefoot runs from nursery to bedroom than from all the open windows in a city.

The following Sonoma and Santa Rosa people attended the ball given at M. K. Cady's on Friday evening of last week: Mr. and Mrs. H. Hartin. Messrs. Jesse Burris, R. A. McDonnell, J. McMullen, Frank Young, Jas. Wilson, Frank Weems, Henry Bates, Thos. Ellis, Wm. Fowler. Misses. Haraszthy's, Eda Gillan, Bessie Knight, Pauline Bates, Annie Fisher, Regula Knobel, all of Sonoma. Mr. and Mrs. P. N. Stofen, Mr. and Mrs. Weiner, Mrs. F. McG. Martin, Miss Minnie Coulter, Major Julliard of Santa Rosa. Prof. Parks' orchestra furnished excellent music on the above occasion.

Fitting new shoes—The best time is in the afternoon, for one's foot has then enlarged all it will for that day. It is well, too, to wear one's heaviest hose; then should the shoes prove a bit tight, one can substitute thinner hose, which will make some difference. If the shoes are still inclined to pinch, this can usually be remedied by wringing a folded towel from quite hot water and placing it closely over that part of the shoe which binds. If necessary, repeat several times until the leather becomes moist, then wear the shoe until it is well dried, and it will be comfortably set to the foot.

The sad news of the death of May Baker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter T. Baker, formerly of this place, was received here last Wednesday. The deceased was just budding into young womanhood. She was attacked with scarlet fever and although everything known to medical skill was done to save her life the icy hand of death came all too soon and claimed her for its own, and her gentle spirit passed over the dark river while yet her fond parents and little brothers stood sorrow-stricken around her bedside. May was well-known in Sonoma where she attended both the public and convent schools. She was a native of San Francisco and aged fourteen years and twenty-two days. The funeral took place from her late residence 914 Twentieth street, San Francisco, and was very largely attended. Many beautiful floral offerings were sent by friends of the family.

Pretty table-bibs for the baby may be made from an ordinary-sized towel. First cut the towel in two crosswise, then cut each half in two lengthwise, and in the center of each upper part cut it out to fit the neck. Hem the rest of the upper part and the one side. Then bind the neck with white tape, leaving the ends long enough to tie it.

A unique affair was given recently in San Francisco by the ladies of a prominent church in the above city. It was called a "Seven Days' Wonder" and was arranged as follows: Around the hall were located attractive booths, seven in number, one for every day of the week from the housewives' point of view. At the entrance the visitor was confronted with "Wash Day," with its accompaniments of wringers, scrub-boards, soap and other articles; then comes in succession, "Ironing Day," "Reception Day," "Mending Day," "Cleaning Day," "Baking Day" and "Resting Day"—Sunday. Each booth was abundantly supplied with articles appropriate to each day, which the ladies had for sale for the benefit of the church. A good musical programme was a prominent feature.

HE WANTED INFORMATION.

And the Butcher Heard His Story and Supplied His Needs.

"Is raw beef good for a black eye?" he asked as he entered a butcher shop on Michigan avenue.

"It is accounted a good thing," replied the butcher. "Take off the hamkerchief and let me see. Phew! but you got a hard one, didn't you?"

"I was unconscious for 10 minutes after the fellow hit me. Gimme about four pounds of raw material."

"You don't want over a pound at once. A fellow hit you, eh?"

"He did. He just hauled off and drew in his breath and jumped on the blow. I thought I had been struck by a thunderbolt. Cut the meat purty thick."

"I suppose you were talking politics?" queried the butcher as he sharpened his knife.

"No, sir—ever talk politics."

"But you had a dispute?"

"No, sir—never dispute. If a man don't believe as I do, I let him believe as he wants to."

"Maybe you called him a liar?" persisted the butcher as he cut at the meat.

"No, sir—never called a man a liar in my life. Better make that two pounds. You see, I was down to the depot to see about trains, and I met a man with yaller eyes. Ever see a man with yaller eyes, same as a cat's?"

"I don't think I ever did."

"Nor I either. Struck me as rather curious. I spoke to a fellow about it, and he said it also struck him as rather curious. A fellow with cat's eyes ought to be able to see in the dark, hadn't he?"

"I should think so."

"So should I. I spoke to another fellow about it, and he said he should think so too. If you could see in the dark, you wouldn't get mad about it, would you?"

"Of course not."

"Neither would I. I spoke to another fellow about it, and he said he wouldn't either. If you'd bin there, would you have asked the yaller-eyed man if he could see in the dark?"

"Why, yes, I think so."

"Thank you. I thought I was the only fool in Michigan, and it consoles me to find a partner! I put the question to him, and the depot, and a wheat elevator. A fellow with yaller eyes hit me in the eye at once, and when I recovered consciousness yaller eyes had departed on the train. Better make that 10 pounds, for I can feel my whole head swelling, and I'll beef it clear down to the chin!"—Detroit Free Press.

French "Talks."

The number of phrases of the class which we call "Irish bulls," but which are found in polite works not written by Irishmen, is very large indeed. A novel which was recently crowned by the French academy as possessed of unusual merit contained a sentence of which the following is a translation:

"It was midnight. A man who lay in ambush listened to a conversation, but suddenly a dense, dark cloud passed in front of the moon and prevented him from hearing more."

Here is another phrase, written in full earnest by a master of French criticism. "It was one of those duels in which one of the blades literally buries itself in the heart of the other."

A criticism in a French journal upon a dramatic performance lately ended with these words, which are worthy of Sir Boyle Roche:

"Mme. Judie's talent is like the froth on good champagne. Beware of thrusting the scalpel into it, for if you do there will remain naught but a pinch of ashes at the bottom of the alembic."

Another French journal in speaking of the results of certain false reports declared:

"This is the handwork of evil tongues, manipulated by cruel hands!"—Youth's Companion.

The Flying Turk.

In Knolles' "History of the Turks" there is an eloquent account of a flying man, whose feat was part of the amusement provided for the visit of the Turkish sultan to the Greek emperor in 1147. He was to fly a full long from the top of a high tower, on which he appeared "in a long and light white garment in many plaits devised for the gathering of the wind."

He hovered on the battlement, unwilling to venture into the untraced element, and not until the immense throng of spectators grew impatient and began to cry, "Fly, Turk, fly," did he take flight. Instead of mounting aloft he came tumbling down and broke every bone in his body. During the 800 years that have intervened little better has been done. In Scotland a criminal condemned to death was offered by the savants of the day the alternative of trying his luck with wings from the top of Stirling castle, and he came down in perfect safety, but that again was not flying, but falling.

Why is it?

"Did you ever notice," said an observant young man, "that men as a rule run down the heels of their shoes on the outside, while women run them down on the inside?" He was asked to explain the reason, but said he had no reason, as he only mentioned it as being singular, with no means of explanation.—Buffalo Times.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. WHY? Because he follows these rules: "Keep the head cool, the feet warm, and the bowels open." You can have a clear head and live to be ninety if you do the same thing. When the bowels fail to move during the day take on retiring two Smith's Small Blue Beans. Their action is so mild that you are not aware of it. All day your mind will be clear and cool.
